EYE WITNESS

Mr. T. H. Groves Tells of Patterson Wreck.

He Left His Train and Worked All Night Rescuing Bodies.

An eye witness to the terrible railroad wreck at Patterson, N. J., was Mr. T. H. Groves of this city. Mr. Groves returned to Akron Saturday. To a DEMOCRAT reporter he said: "It was one of the most horrible sights I have ever witnessed. The two trains were telescoped at the Patterson station. My train was standing on a nearby track. I saw the collision and went to the assistance of the unfortunate people. We worked all night chopping out the injured and sending them to the hospitals. Six persons were killed outright and more than a score were injured."

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will prove a quick and sure cure for croup. Mothers, when your children are attacked with that dreadful disease, you can depend on this marvelous remedy. It never fails to cure at once. Price 25c.

BUILDING BOOM.

Akron Grows Faster Each Succeeding Year.

Twice as Many Permits Issued This Year as Last.

From March 30 to November 1, 333 building permits have been granted by City Clerk Isbell. In the same period last year, but 160 were granted. Only 220 permits were granted for the whole of last year. The number this year will doubtless be more than twice that.

During the month of November 25 building permits were granted.

In the past week permits have been granted as follows: C. M. Brainerd, frame dwelling on Yale st.; Reading Manufacturing and Building Company, frame dwelling on Balch st.; Thomas B. Carmichael, frame dwelling on Gage st.; Laura E. Patton, addition to dwelling on Exchange st.; E. M. Ganyard, frame dwelling on Hall st.

CHICKEN THIEF.

Sam Hibbs Set a Trap—He Killed the Marauder.

Sam J. Hibbs of Dean st., who is one of the most enthusiastic members of the Akron Poultry and Pet Stock club, has been missing some fine chickens of late.

On Friday night two fine Pekin pullets were killed. Each was to have been exhibited at the bench show; they were valuable birds. Indications were that a skunk was the slaughterer, and Mr. Hibbs set a trap for the odoriferous assassin. The trap was set near the hen-house and when visited Monday morning it was not empty. "One of the biggest skunks I ever saw was there," said Mr. Hibbs. "I'll bet it weighed at least 15 pounds."

A shot gun was secured, and that particular skunk will now kill no more chickens.

For fine plumbing call on C. M. Oberlin for prices.

Poultry Club.

Members of the Akron Poultry and Pet Stock club held a well attended meeting at the club's rooms Odd Fellows' temple, Saturday evening. It was decided to change the number of specimens for first entries for prizes at the bench show from six to four, and second from four to three.

Dr. J. W. Lyder read an excellent paper on "White Minorca."

It is expected that the White Minorca club, which has members throughout this union, will have a large number of specimens at the bench show. It is estimated that all together, 1,600 birds will be exhibited by poultry breeders and fanciers. The members of the club tendered a vote of thanks to the DAILY DEMOCRAT for the attention and space given the doings of the club in its present enterprise in arranging for the show.

ONE SESSION

Will be Devoted to the Ninetieth Anniversary.

The session and trustees of the Presbyterian church North Springfield have officially announced that only the forenoon of Dec. 9 will be devoted to the celebration of the ninetieth anniversary of the organization of this, the second oldest church in the Cleveland Presbytery.

The entire afternoon will be given up to the annual business meeting of the congregation. It seems, to a good many, that this was a matter for the congregation to decide, but then there is nothing like having some one to decide matters.

So despite the fact of circulars issued and previous notice, we send this as official.

JINGLES.

The Red Ears.
The moon was like a pumpkin—round,
Ripe, golden—large for me,
'Twould took the first prize, I'll be bound,
At any county fair.
Whatever you may call it, I'm
Dead sure in sun and dew
It soaks until about this time
It's mellowed through and through.

Well, anyway, 'twas harvest moon,
And that's enough for me,
It made the place so bright as noon
For Jones' huskin' bee.
And yellow—gold! The yellowest light
I ever saw before
Came stream through the summer night
And in the old barn door.

It "yellowed" all the corn I got,
I husked and husked, by gum,
And burrowed in like sixty; not
A single red I saw!
And when young St. Smith found an ear
And said: "You're way behind,
I ever saw before
It made me feel uncommon queer—
It almost made me mad.

She's well worth kissin', I tell you!
I envied St. that smack.
She didn't like it, though I know;
She looked at me and tossed her head
And said: "You're way behind,
You haven't found an ear that's red.
You must be color blind."

And St. Smith laughed—a spiteful laugh
(He's naturally mean),
But in a second and a half
I'd kissed her, slick and clean.
She didn't care, but blushed like—my! While I said: "Say, it 'pears
You fellows aren't so all fired shy.
'Gosh, here's two red ears!"
—Ladies' Weekly.

The More's the Pity.
Here's a thought and ponder on it,
Poets, at your will;
'Some' ever rhymes to "bonnet,"
But never pays a bonnet bill.
—Atlanta Constitution.
